1. Attached in the Annex is a layout sketch of Camp Glau (3161).

2. The following details were observed:

- a. The main gate (T 1) is in the southwestern corner of the camp. The main entrance road to the camp runs into the camp at this point. Gate T 2 is closed. At Gate T 3, the road coming from Glau runs into the camp. The Gate is guarded, but mostly locked.
- b. No highways or roads blocked for civilian traffic were observed. At the branch-off of the main entrance road to the camp from the Schoenhagen-Schlass highway, there was a poster with the inscription "Off limits for vehicles of the foreign military mission". A poster with a similar inscription was observed at the western exit of Leewendorf.
- c. The radar installation (2), presumably of type "Dreschmaschine" (thresher) was obstructed to view by trees and bushes as well as sentries.
- d. Three large camouflage nets (3) were observed for the first time. However, no details on the equipment under cover could be obtained. The area east of (3) was heavily furrowed on either side of the barbed-wire fence. The area in the northeastern portion of the camp is very rugged.
- e. The installation was apparently occupied to capacity and heavily guarded.

Comment. Since June 1958, an AAA unit, presumably one regiment of the u/i AAA Div/Third Gds Army has been carried at Camp Glau. Available information on the installation indicates that the unit stationed there has presumably been equipped with arms and material which had been included in the so far known T/E of an AAA division. For layout sketch, see Annex. SECRET
